The Prices of Steel Plates Reduced by the Great Carnegie Firm.

A $6 A TON REDUCTION.

Competing Manufacturers Who Signed the Scale Are Very Hot.

EFFECTS OF THE IMPORTANT MOVE

A Significant Step Toward Controlling the Steel Trade of the Country Made by Carnegle. Phinns & Co.-Although the Workers Fought for the Wages to be Paid, the Company is Able to Reduce Prices-An Unprecedented Cut-Other Steel Manufacturers Condemuthe Action -Some May be Compelled to Quit Making Steel-A Statement From Chairman Abbott.

The great firm of Carnegie, Phipps & Co. makes another startling move. It is a reduction of $6 per ton, made in the price of steel plates. Manufacturers who come in competition with this firm are angry, and say their trade will be greatly injured. Chairman Aboott explains why a reduction was made. His explanation, however, is not at all satisfactory to the other steel makers. The cut may materially affect wages based on a sliding scale,

Carnegie, Phipps & Co. have caused ansteel at their mercy. A seemingly sweeping is said, suggests an amalgamation of all the reduction in prices has just been made, and when the great Homestead works are started to-day or to-morrow steel plates will be quoted at $6 per ton less than the price when

Crippled by the Scale. All the firms directly affected by this reduction, with but one exception, have signed the Amalgamated Association scale for the year ending June 30, 1890. Carnegie, Phipps & Co., as already stated, signed a sliding scale, which gives them an advantage over all competitors. Their Homestead mill will be started in full either to-day or tomorrow, and the men are perfectly satisfied, as has been reported, with the terms of the

By these terms the Carnegie firm will have a slight advantage over other concerns during the balance of this year, and, on January 1, when a change is made in the sliding scale, based on the average selling price during the previous six months, the other firms will have an advantage over the Carnegie firm only if the average selling price of steel billets is greater than $26 50

How it Renches Wages.

By this great cut in prices, started so early, there is every indication that if it can be maintained, the average selling price will not be $26 50 and will probably hug the $25 mark, the minimum price in the sliding scale.

Chairman W. L. Abbott, of Carnegie, Phipps & Co., was spoken to on the subject by a DISPATCH reporter last night and asked if the report was true that they had made a reduction in prices.

Mr. Abbott admitted that a reduction had market and making a price that it will stand; nothing more." The firms directly interested by this move are Jones & Laughlins, the Spang Steel and Iron Company, Moorhead, McCleane & Co., Shoenberger & Co., and Oliver Bros. & Phillips, all of this city, and the Junction Iron and Steel Company, of Mingo Junetion, all of which firms have signed the straight Amalgamated Association scale, with the exception of Shoenherger & Co.,

and, as stated vesterday, this firm has Decided Not to Sign, unless it can get as good terms as Carnegie, Phipps & Co. (a material reduction), and a aliding scale running for a period of three

One of the members of a large firm that is affected by the cut was seen yesterday, and

"I have just learned positively that Carnegie, Phipps & Co. have reduced the prices on plates $6 per ton, and I understand, but will not give as authentic, that a general reduction in prices was made on everything that the firm produces, at the Homestead mill, and on some of the products of the Union Iron Mills. GAS FROM NAPHTHA.

The Standard Makes the Latter at Its Lim Refinery and From it Makes the Up Gas Plants.

LIMA, July 18.—The working of the Standard's Solar Refinery, which has always been very mysterious, has been revealed to your correspondent, It has been a question whether they made illumi-nating oil out of Lima oil or not. The revelation settles the fact that it is a fine quality of naphtha that the Solar makes. The naphtha made from Lima oil is very cheap, and is used in the manufacture of artificial gas. A syndicate, composed mostly of Standard men, has been organized to buy up gas plants and furnish cheaper gas than the old companies. The reported English syndicate which was going to buy out the Chicago gas companies should have been styled a Standard syndicate. Agents of the Standard have gone to Chicago and Detroit to negotiate for the gas companies plants in those cities, and if not successful in purchasing, will try to establish new companies. The process by which the syndicate expects to make cheap gas has been is a fine quality of naphtha can expects to make cheap gas has been tested here for more than a year by the Lima Gas Light Company, of which Calvin S. Brice is principal stockholder. The gas is of very fine quality, much superior to the of very fine quality, much superior old coal gas and burns brighter.

Carnegie, Phipps & Co. have caused another sensation, and a big one, which, it is said, will place all other firms who produce statement made by him on his arrival in this city in reference to a circular which, it the mill was closed.

This is considered by manufacturers as one of the largest, if not the largest, cut in prices that has of late years been made in the iron and steel trade, and leaves the $1.50 a ton cut by the Thomas Iron Company recently, which caused such a stir in manustices. The Manager of a New York Pools Leaves With the Cash. PRPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR.

NEW YORK, July 18.-There was an angry crowd this afternoon in the poolroom owned by a man named Hall, at 80 Park row, on account of the disappearance of Benny Faulk, the manager, with the bank roll. The book had been hit to the extent of about $800 up to the fourth race, when Faulk left the rooms, saying that he had got to get a $1,000 bill changed. He went without his hat or coat and failed to return. Jake Cohen, better known as "Blackie," was taking in all the money he could get on the fifth race, and as it came he handed it over to the cashier who paid out on the other races. When the operator sung out that Rizpah was first and Ernest second in the fifth race, there was no more money in the box. An explanation was demanded and Blackie said that Faulk had gone with the money, and that they would have to de-fer the paying of all bets until morning. when all would be right. It was said that the mysterious Mr. Hall was worth $30 000 and that if he did not make good all bets why Cohen would do it himself

Glichrist, of Youngstown, Drown Herself and Two Children-A Loss of $350 the Probable Cause-Her Husband's Story.

Youngstown, July 18 .- The drowned body of a woman in whose arms were two lifeless children, both girls, was found early this morning in Yankee run, a small stream six miles north of this city. It was apparent from the position in which they were found that the woman had first drowned the children and then deliberately lain down in the shallow stream until death came. The water was less than ten inches deep. Late this afternoon it was learned that the remains were those of the wife and children of William Gilchrist, a stone mason residing on West Wood street, who identified them by the descriptions given.

Mr. Gilchrist said that his wife and the two girls, 7 and 4 years of age, left him on Tuesday to visit her sister, Mrs. Hausel, in Sharon, and he expected to receive a letter Tuesday to visit her sister, Mrs. Hausel, in Sharon, and he expected to receive a letter from his wife this morning, but none coming, he decided to go to Sharon to night and ascertain what was the matter. Mrs. Gilchrist and her two children were seen yesterday in the vicinity of where the bodies were found and stopped at a farmhouse, where they were given something to eat. About 7 o'clock last night they were met by two ladies in that locality who, noticing that they were tired, tendered them hospitality of their home. Mrs. Gilchrist declined, stating that she intended to walk to Hubbard and take the train for her home in Youngstown. As far as known this is the last seen of them alive.

Calmly Awaits His Death. SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. TORONTO, O., July 18 .- A story of a ter rible poisoning case has just reached here from Cobourg. George Breeze, aged 60 years, an industrious workingman, lived with his second wife, who is about 30 years old, near Brighton, and Lena a 10-year old daughter of his first wife. About a week ago he died and his wife told the neighbors that he had committed suicide with rat poison, saying that he was tired of life, and lying in her arms. This story was not credited by some and an inquest was held. Lenn, the daughter, told her story, con-cocted by the woman, and persisted in it for several days. At length she divulged the terrible secret

One evening, she said, her mother told her not to eat any of the berries provided for tea, as she had put rat poison in them to get rid of her husband. Breeze ate the bersubsequently he was given water, and a biscuit which his wife had dosed with ar-senic. For five nights and four days Breeze was dying. A REFINED AND CULTURED LADY

Fortune Rather Than to HAVE HER GOOD NAME TARNISHED.

Thinks It Has Gone Too Par, and Asks th Law to Protect Her.

Gives Up Over One-Fourth of a Handsom

The sad spectacle of a refined and cultured lady being obliged to go into court with a have for some time been blackmailing her, is to be seen in Duchess county, N. Y. The plaintiff cla ims that $110,000 out of $400,000 left her by her deceased mother, has been forced from her by her relatives, who threatened to blast her good name if she didn't divide her wealth with them.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR ) NEWBURG, N. Y., July 18 .- A case involving over a quarter of a million in money and the good name of a refined and cultured lady, has just been launched in the Supreme Court of Duchess county, and when given to the public for the first time, through these lispatches, will create the greatest sensation known in this section of the State for a long time. The parties interested are very re-spectable, members of churches and business men of integrity.

The action is the outcome of alleged raud, as practiced by the defendants upon lady who did not discover her rights in he matter until $110,000 of an estate value at $400,000 had been given up. The action brought to recover the sum paid out, and Judge Barnard has issued orders of arrest gainst some of the defendants.

A FAMILY AT WAR. The suit is entitled Mary L. Mowatt plaintiff, against Theodore C., Augustus W Wines, B. and John M. Mowett, Hester C. McFarland, Adelia Hopper and Nicholas her husband, and Helen B. Saunt. These are sisters, brothers, and a brother-in-law of the late James C. Mowatt, of Matteawan, Duchess county, opposite this city.

Miss Mowatt, the plaintiff, has retained
Counsellor John M. Gardner, of Newburg, to prosecute the case. She is a lady of 45 years, and has a commanding presence. She is not handsome, but what she lacks in looks she makes up in refinement and culture. She speaks several different languages fluently, among them Spanish. The whole Mowatt family are of Scotch descent, and for many years have held an enviable place in the community at Fishkill and Matteawan. The trouble ensued shortly after the death of James C. Mowatt, which were recovered March 28, 1888. which event occurred March 25, 1888. He

VERY SUCCESSFUL IN BUSINESS, and died leaving an estate worth about $400,000. His sister, Mary L. Mowatt, was appointed his sole executrix and legates. Although he had several brothers and sisters living at Matteawan, Brooklyn and elsewhere, he had, it is claimed, singled out her and spent much of his time with her in Mexico, where his business as a manufactory was located. He also traveled abroad much in her company, and in va-rious other ways gave strong evidence of his favoritism to her over any of the rest of his kin. It was not thought, therefore, strange, nor was it unexpected, that he should leave his estate to her. He made his will in 1864, devising all he had to her, and on the 18th of June following the will was admitted probate in the Surrogate's Court of Duches county. He was, as the complaint says, a man of unusually sound mind and executive business tact and judgment, and he acquired his fortune through his own efforts. A SYSTEM OF BLACKMAIL. The will was probated, but the complain charges that the two brothers, Augustus H., of Matteawan, and Theodore C., of Pough or Matteawan, and Incodore C., of Pouga-keepsic, together with Nicholas Hopper, of Fishkill Landing, conspired together at various times to fraudulently intimidate and force the legatee to make an equal division of the estate to and among all the heirs of the deceased, which were eight in umber. She says an instrument drawn up y Lawyer Cook was presented to her, which released her claim as the legatee, and which divided the estate, share and share alike, and she signed the document under the and she signed the document under the threat that disclosures would be made that would subject her to everlasting infamy and disgrace, as well as her deceased brother.

To a lady of refined sensibilities the threats made by her relatives seem to have had effect, and her signature was thus procured to the document before she took counhad elect, and her signature was thus pro-cured to the document before she took coun-sel upon her rights. Through this means she alleges that $110,000 have been traudu-lently taken from her, although the state-ments thus made in secret were basely false. Being thus frightened into

SAVING HER REPUTATION over, among the seven heirs named, the sum alluded to.

There also remains about $200,000 worth of business property in Mexico yielding an annual income of about $20,000, which the defendants have been collecting during the past year. But this supply has now been been brought to restrain them from collect-ing it and from interfering with the Mexican property in any way. Of the sum named, Miss Mowatt says she first drew $43,000 in cash from the Quassik National Bank, this city, and the rest has been made Bank, this city, and the rest has been made up of securities convertible into cash.

The testator was a man of great executive ability, and eminently qualified to make a will. It was drawn according to law, and in the form prescribed by law. Judge Barnard has issued orders of arrest for the two brothers, Augustus H. and Thomas C. Mowatt, and Nicholas Hopper, the brotherin-law. The latter is a prominent officer in the Methodist Church at Fishkill Landing and a retired merchant. One of the defendants lives at Elmsford, near Tarrytown, one out West, and another in Brooklyn.

Who Drew Local Conclusions. ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH & SCHAEFFERSTOWN, July 18 .- The Rev. 3. Hernel, of the Red Forest Church, created a sensation last Sunday morning. His sermon to a large congregation was entirely unexpected, and the pastor's impassioned words will be the subject of talk for months to come. After reading a portion of the thirty-eighth chapter of Genesis, the pastor proceeded to speak upor the sin of the woman "Tamar." He said: "The unwomanly act of Tamar was a sin then in the sight of God, and such conduct now is equally a sin. Christian people abhor all the modern Tamars. If a good qualities, and she will be sought for in due season."

The sensation was caused in a strict local application of the Biblical story. When the pastor had concluded, he dismissed the congregation at once amid the most intense excitement. No names were mentioned, but all present knew who was meant. The old farmer who was accused moved sullenly to his carriage and drove away without a word. The woman took the back path up the hill alone. Public sympathy is with her. There is to be a congregational meeting soon to take the matter in hand, but there is a rumor that the old man will marry the woman. If he does it is likely the subject will be dropp !, and the church will do what it can to raise them once more into

ISPECIAL TREEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 WASHINGTON, July 18 .- Senator Quay made a busy day of it, but as his business ook him for the most part away from his hotel he was not besieged with callers, and was not forced to shut the doors on all comers. Early in the forenoon the Senator and Private Secretary Leach took a drive about the northwest section of the city and looked at several large houses that are for rent, but no selection has yet been made, and it is probable the completion of the domestic arrangements will be left for a future

The Senator and his Secretary called at the Postoffice Department, the Department of Justice and the Treasury Department, partly to say a friendly word to a number of high officials, one of whom was Colonel Holliday, Commissioner of Customs, and partly in the interest of some minor appointments, but in regard to these no definite acion was taken, and therefore nothing could be said about them. PLANNING THE CAMPAIGN. This evening the Senator went out driv-ing. At 9 o'clock Clarkson, Dudley and Fessenden, of Connecticut, joined him in his rooms at the Arlington. A little later General Mahone and the sub-committee of five, appointed at the recent meeting of the Virginia Republican Committee to confer with the National Executive Committee in with the National Executive Committee in regard to the conduct of the campaign, came for a consultation and are still engaged in advising with the Senator and his distinguished companions.

The Mahone men were in consultation today at Chamberlain's and drafted a call for a State Convention, which it is proposed the State Committee will issue to the people of Virginia. It is in regard to the form and language of this address that the conference is being held this evening. It was finally concluded to-day that it wouldn't be judi-cious for the National Executive Committee to issue the call for the State Convention, as that would be a rather extreme interference with the politics of the State, which, in the event of disaster, might reflect on the wis-dom of the National Executive Committee. It is well to say that there was no call issued The conference is informal, and merely in the way of affording the Virginians the benefit of the experience of men versed in the management of State and national politics.

A DISCREET CALL. The call for a convention will be in the nature of an address to the people, reciting discreetly the complaints that have been made against old methods of holding the primaries and controlling State conventions and prescribing methods which will tend to give vent to a free expression of the will of the people in the election of delegates. It is believed that the conference of this evening will result in the construction of a call that will be satisfactory to both the Mahone and anti-Mahone factions, and that they will be brought together to work for the success of the party in the interest of a protective tariff.

It is probable the call will be submitted to the anti-Mahone men now in the city pre-vious to its substance being given to the public.

One thing in controversy among the Virginians is as to who shall sign the credentials of the delegates to the State Convention. One of the Mahone adherents said at a very late hour that he thought this would be settled by having the credentials signed by the Chairmen of the various county contact in the contact of the various county contact in the contact is a set of the various county contact in the contact is a set of the various county contact in the contact is at the contact in the contact in the contact is at the contact in the contact in the contact is at the contact in entions. At midnight General Brady said e thought that the result of the committee's deliberations would be to secure har-monious action in the next campaign.

Senator Quay hopes to be able to leave to-morrow afternoon for Philadelphia, but isn't yet certain of his departure.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—The report that Major Stickney, the Engineering Officer in charge of the improvement on the lower Ohio river and its tributaries, says in regard to the Portland canal at the falls for the Ohio, at Loudonville: "The plant of enlarging the upper portion is ready, and work will begin as soon as the stages of water will permit. About 90,000 cubic feet of rocks is to be removed. The coutract for of rocks is to be removed. The contract for constructing the new capal wall has been renewed and the wall will be completed about the 1st of October. Major Stickney says it is probable work will begin during the year on that portion of the new canal not included within the existing contract. A modification of the project for enlarging the head of the canal has been submitted to the Board of Engineer Officers in connection with the improvement on the Indiana chute. Three hundred thousand dollars is asked for the continuation of the work of subgroups the continuation of the work of enlarging the impracticable to do any work on the falls of the Ohio during the year, on account of the continuous high water. the continuous high water.

In the Christian Light Given to Illumine the Pathway

An interesting and instructive book, written by Cardinal Archbishop Gibbons, is now in the hands of the printer. It is designed not for professional free-thinkers, but for the large classes that is only negatively Christian. The Cardinal combats errors born of paganism and unbelief, and points out the better way.

BALTIMORE, July 18 .- Parts of the new book, "Our Christian Heritage," written by James Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop of Baltimore, which will appear next October, were submitted to an Associated Press reporter this evening. This book is not polemical. It does not deal with the controversies agitated since the reformation nor aim at vindicating the claims of the Catholic Church as superior to those of the separated branches of Christianity. It has nothing to say against any Christian denomination that still retains faith in at least the divine mission of Jesus Christ. On the contrary, most of the topics treated still find zealous advocates in Protestant still find zealous advocates in Protestant writers. Nor was it written in the hope of influencing professional free-thinkers, agnostics and other avowed enemies of Christianity, but those who, through association, the absence of Christian training, a distorted education and pernicious reading, have become estranged from the teachings of the Gospel—those who have never shared in the Christian heritage of their fathers.

CHRISTIANITY AGAINST HERESY, This book shows that such fundamental raths underlying Christianity as the ex-stence, the providence and the omniscience of God, the immortality of the soul, the existence of free will, and the essential distinction between moral good and evil, are all susceptible of being demonstrated by our unaided reason, while they are made still more luminous by the light of Christian revelation. It furnishes Christians with arguments to meet the sophistries of free thinkers, and seeks to enlighten the incere inquirers after truth.

To those who think Christianity has outlived its day and is unsuited to our times, and would fain supplant it by Buddhism, which they regard as less exacting in its tenets and as appealing to the highest aspirations of man's nature, the Cardinal replies that there is no good feature in Buddhism, which is a supplemental found in the cardinal replies that there is no good feature in Buddhism which is a supplemental found in the cardinal replies that there is no good feature in Buddhism which is a supplemental found in the cardinal replies that there is no good feature in Buddhism which is a supplemental found in the cardinal replies that there is no good feature in Buddhism which is a supplemental feature in Buddh ism which is not eminently found in the

PROM BONDAGE TO PREEDOM. The Cardinal concludes the introduction "How rapidly have the sectional hate and fierce animosities engendered by our late Civil War been allayed? In both Houses of Congress and several of our State Legisla-tures are found to-day representatives who fought against each other, but are now framing laws for the welfare of our common country. In passing from pagan to Christian civilization we have emerged from Egyptian bondage to the liberty of the children of God. Let us not grow weary of the salutary restraints of Christian life. Let us not cast wistful glances toward Egypt, from whose bond we have been rescued, nor long for its flesh-pots. Let us

Cut Finds Out His Mistake. PERCHAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. 1 LANSING, MICH., July 18 .- William McKellop is President of the First National Bank of Corunna, is one of the most extensive farmers of Shiawassee county, is propublican postmaster of Birmingham, Robert | prietor of a flour mill, and is a man whose Houston, is charged with throwing eye teeth were cut before the war. He came to this city to-day accompanied by a pleasanttaced young man who registered at a hotel as displeased by Houston's appointment. The charge will be brought to the attention of the all the bars in the city, and McKellop introduced Streeter to his many acquaintances, announcing that the stranger was a rich Californian, and hinted that a big trade was in progress. Early in the evening the two retired to a room in their hotel. This morning McKellop came to the office to inquire about his friend. Investigation proved that he had gone, and McKellop chuckled that he guessed he'd made something, and then he guessed he'd made something, and then in a confidential way told the clerk that he had bought a $20,000 gold brick from

Streeter for $4,000. Several hours later the brick was examined and revealed how woefully the Corun-na banker had been swindled. He says that Streeter was introduced to him at a Co-runna hotel, and that the stranger explained that he had with him, in the shape of a gold that he had with aim, in the snape of a gold brick, the result of his work in California. McKellop tested the brick and thought it was solid gold, and a deal was arranged. The deal was completed in Lansing, because Streeter said he had business at the State House. The swindler is probably in Canada

Sheriff Kurtz Claims His Fees Can't be Reduced During His Term of Office. CHAMBERSBURG, July 18 .- The suit of ex-Sheriff Kurtz against Franklin county was renewed to-day. The claim is for $10,-524 76 for boarding prisoners, payment of which was refused by the County sioners. The point to be decided is a novel one, involving the constitutional rights of one, involving the constitutional rights of an officer not to have his fees diminished during the term for which he was elected. The plaintiff claims that his fees were re-duced by the repeal of a special act of the Legislature, which allowed him a certain amount per diem for boarding prisoners. A number of other counties in Pennsylvania are interested in the result of the suit.
